

docurex® now as document management system with integrated full-text search. Simple, secure and intuitive.

docurex®: document management docurex® is the innovative and intuitive software for efficient due diligence examinations and company transactions. The highly secure data room enables buyers, contract partners and prospects to comfortably and securely manage documents which are relevant for the respective transaction. docurex® has now been enhanced to a data repository and an integrated document management system. In this way, docurex® can still be used online and is a particularly efficient document management system.

As with docurex®, the document management system and data repository from docurex® can be used immediately as an online data room without any training. docurex® is extremely easy to use and has been certified by the Fraunhofer Institute for Occupational Organisation. In this way, documents in the docurex® data repository can, on request, be automatically fully-indexed and provided with keywords. This ensures fast retrieval of all existing documents and saves valuable time. The docurex® data repository still provides a very particular advantage for those who value highly efficient document management: As the software is web-based, the docurex® data repository can be used from any PC worldwide.

The integrated data repository

With the expansion to a data repository and document management system, you can continue working as before. The entire user interface of the docurex® data room is designed for the greatest ease of use. Training or other briefing is not required. When using the data repository and document management system, you will find your way around just as easily as before. In addition, you do not need any client software, i.e. no software needs to be installed on the PCs or notebooks. To use the docurex® document management system, you only need Internet Explorer and an internet connection. This also avoids time-consuming configuration on your computer.

„We decided on docurex® because we were convinced of the cost-benefit ratio and performance of the provider.“

Dirk Schlürmann, Director
Allianz Real Estate GmbH

Find instead of search

Save time! With docurex®, a full-text index can be added to all documents on request. You can then comfortably look for content in your documents. In this way, you can find relevant documents and texts very fast. The extended search function is not simply a “keyword search machine”. You have the possibility to run complex queries and download the results as a compressed ZIP file on your computer.

It doesn't get any easier than that.

In your colours, in your language

Integrated corporate branding offers a very special extra. With this, you can customise your docurex data repository with your company colours, logos, icons and corporate identity. Moreover, docurex® can be used in both English and German, and can be expanded to support other languages so that use at different locations worldwide is no problem.

„docurex® is an important channel for us to securely ex-change information over the internet with our business partners.“

Michael Zoller, EDP Manager
Hypo Tirol Bank AG, Innsbruck

No additional software necessary

docurex® document management also allows automatic PDF conversion of documents in the data repository. This means you don't need any other programme or costly software. Additional security functions for PDF documents can be enabled at any time. In addition, all PDF documents are provided with an individual electronic watermark. This eases the clear identification of access and users. With the built-in export function, you can completely download all documents in the data repository to an external drive. This is extremely easy and done in an instant. The document management system gives you the possibility to download files in the data repository by "mass download".

„Due to its flexible composition of individual modules, docurex® can be adapted precisely to the demands of different transactions. This is what is a big plus!“

Lars Linnenbrügger, Director
Zinshausteam GmbH

Secure, auditable

For the optimum overview, you receive an exact evaluation of all access activities of all those interested. Smooth logging of the docurex system is also integrated. This makes not only the document management extremely easy. It goes without saying that all system logs can only be viewed by persons with the appropriate rights. For greatest security, there is an auditable, thus non-editable – record of each change to documents. This enables you to trace changes to data room content or access to specific documents at all times.

A level of logging can be defined for each participant in the docurex data room to meet all conceivable requirements.

Another module which is not only important for the data repository and document management is docusync. This module enables the import of folder structures in the data room, and can also independently and completely identically represent folders and document structures with several million files in the docurex® data room.
